Bandar Lampung

I am Data Science student at the Sumatra Institute of Technology with a strong focus on Data Engineering. My technical expertise includes databases, data processing, ETL pipelines, data analysis, Geo Spatial Analysis and data architecture design. I have experience as a Research Assistant at the National Research and Innovation Agency, where I worked with structured datasets, performed data processing and analysis, and supported research driven data needs. I am highly motivated to learn new technologies and to contribute to data-driven decision making through scalable and well structured data solutions in real world projects.
